Cabin dedication Sunday

Cooperation has been a necessary part of the relocation of a 125 year-old Pioneer Log Cabin from Gabriel Mills to the Lions Recreational Park on Austin Avenue. Many persons have contributed time, money and labor to dismantle, move, and authentically reconstruct the cabin.

The culmination of these efforts will be the dedication of the cabin and the Liberty Tree, a Texas pecan, at 2 p. m. Sunday. The Georgetown High School Choir and Stage Band will provide entertainment during the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Emile Jamail of Austin donated the log cabin to the City of Georgetown and the Georgetown Bicentennial Commission (GBC). The Georgetown Bicentennial Heritage Committee, co-chaired by Mrs. Clara Scarbrough and Mike Riddle, conceived the idea of moving and restoring the log cabin as part of their project. Adopted as an official Bicentennial task by the GBC, it is the first permanent project to be completed.

A Liberty Tree was provided to each county by the Texas Forestry Service and the Texas Forestry Association, to be planted as a living symbol of the importance of trees in Texas and the United States. Texas is a new variety of the pecan, the official state tree of Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wood delivered the pecan tree from Goldthwaite recently, the distributing point for a seven county area. Ferd Tonn has constructed a permanent routed redwood sign to explain the Liberty Tree.

The cabin was built between 1850 and 1854 on land owned by Samuel Mather, the first settler of the Gabriel Mills area. The land was later owned by Benjamin K. Stuart.

The one-room cabin was constructed with native hardwood that weathered well, held together only by its hand-hewn, square-notched corners. Later additions to the cabin lay in rubble around the original cabin. The hand-hewn limestone fireplace and chimney also stood intact.

Edward Valdez erected the chimney and fireplace when it was moved.

Others who have contributed time and labor to the project include Dr. Duncan Muckelroy, consultant on historic preservation, Texas Historical Commission and National Register Staff, Austin; Dee Scott, consultation and preparation of concrete piers for cabin; Frank Viktorin, consultation on moving the cabin; Harold Asher of Gabriel Mills, historical research on cabin; and the City of Georgetown personnel for hauling and unloading logs and for police protection.

Glenn's Arco Station also contributed labor to move the cabin.

Students in the construction classes of Coordinated Vocational-Academic Education and Industrial Cooperative Education, under the direction of Arnim Humphreys and Robert Kleen, have provided volunteer labor to rebuild the cabin.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Scarbrough have donated the historical marker that will mark the cabin.

Landscaping will feature a swept yard directly around the cabin, planted with mountain laurel, red bud trees and iris. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Burnette and Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. B. Morse will donate the landscaping.

The high school Pan American Forum and two Boy Scout troops will help ready the park for the dedication ceremony.

Other contributors for the cabin project include Jay C. Sloan; Mr. and Mrs. Emory Carlson, material for flooring; Wickes Lumber Co., wooden shingles; City of Georgetown, preservative for logs; and Tommy Thompson, electrical wiring.

Mrs. Lilly Hargett, president of the Alpha

Council to set elections

An order setting the date, place, time, and judges for the 1976 Georgetown City Council elections is on the agenda for the Council's meeting Monday at 7 p. m. in City Hall, 103 W. Seventh St.

The Council is also scheduled to hear again

Week's news in a nutshell

Viewing Friday morning's Austin American, things are going to pot, or are already there. Shootings dominated the front page, but other items included a House vote to increase control over big gas companies, a report of Judge Sirica's condition (bad) after a massive heart attack, and 87 persons filing for offices in Duval County, where the monarchs of old have slipped.

IN OUR COUNTY, the Taylor Daily Press is sponsoring its second annual spelling bee, set for April 3, and word has been sent to area schools inviting contestants. The Sunday Sun may sponsor a contest on adding, so, that between the two newspapers, we can help produce editors and bookkeepers. Seriously, the spelling bee idea is a fine one and something similar ought to be done in the west end of the county.

The mythical groundhog came out of its den Monday and presumably ducked back in after viewing (with alarm) its shadow, which foretells a span of bad weather, much in evidence as the week tailed out. Also, on Monday, a rash of entries into the County Commissioner's race developed, so that we now have seven democrats and two republicans seeking the spot to be vacated by Wesley Johnson, who declined to run again.

Jack Tittsworth of Taylor, a really fine fellow, died Tuesday evening after a long and courageous fight with cancer. He was buried Thursday.

Liberty Hill merchants were all set for their first Saturday monthly Market Day as the Sunday Sun went to press. For those who receive the paper Saturday, and everyone in this area ought to, the Market Day stays open until dark.

A sewing factory to employ about 40 people, mostly women, will open in Granger soon. Called Ca-Ce-Len Manufacturing Company, the firm will sew both men's and women's clothing.

A DOOR-TO-DOOR drive for funds to aid the Cedar Park Volunteer Fire Department begins Monday. Last year the department answered 75 calls, including 13 housefires. A fire station is badly needed, as is operating funds. The department receives $433.75 from the county but spent $4528 on operating expenses last year.

Supt. Dr. Jack Warner, of Leander, got in some good licks for the open classroom concept being utilized in the Faubion Elementary School, where the teaching process is aiming more at individual students, in "a humanizing learning environment." Faubion school has one large room, partitioned by movable screens, where 23 teachers instruct 530 students from kindergarten through the sixth grade.

Flu has reduced attendance of Taylor area schools in the past few days. Absenteeism is about 20 percent, Dr. S. W. Lenbert reported.

Patty was getting her skull x-rayed as the big trial got underway in San Francisco, while in Georgetown a county grand jury returned 10 indictments for offenses ranging from rape to DWI.

THE ROUND ROCK Chamber of Commerce banquet will be held March 1 at the high schools and tickets will be on sale soon. Officers to be installed are Bob Vincent, president; Jack Hoover, VP; Clyde Parker, secretary and Steve Pena, the money man. Also in Round Rock, Robert E. Rhoades has been named president of the Savings and Loan and the Rev. Wright, administrator of the Texas Baptist Children's Home, was elected president of the RR United Way.

Nine new candidates for county offices came out of hiding with the groundhog Monday.

James B. Coffman of Georgetown filed to run in the Republican primary

the passing glance

By Don Scarbrough

Two of my Round Rock friends called this week, both to comment on the rapid (?) delivery of The Sunday Sun. Larry Jackson, editor of the Leader, and Elmer Cottrell, businessman and civic leader, had just received it in their Wednesday morning mail! It should have reached them Saturday.

We print the Sunday Sun Friday night, address and prepare the papers for mailing immediately, then carry all but those addressed to local and Georgetown routes to the Austin post office. They are routed from that point to our subscribers in Round Rock, Liberty Hill and so forth, and, within this area, they should hit the customer's mailbox on Saturday, not Monday, nor Wednesday. If your paper doesn't arrive Saturday, complain to the post office, then let us know too.

MRS. E. R. LOGAN, who lives on Cottonwood, called me about noon Saturday, saying her paper hadn't arrived. I carried one out to her and hand-delivered it. "I love my Sunday Sun," she told me, which made my trip worthwhile. Somehow, her paper had gotten lost. We had no other complaints in this area.

By and large, our postmen do a remarkably fine job. Just like the rest of us, they slip up occasionally, but usually there is a good reason.

Incidentally, that Xerox machine in the post office lobby is back in service, thanks to an order from Washington. It's handy and many in the community are pleased to have it there.

We are carrying a new service feature in this issue of the paper — a list of bills that were approved for payment by the City Council in their regular January meeting. Amounting to nearly $125 thousand, the large list of items will give our readers an idea of what is happening to their tax dollars, what the purchases are, the firms getting local business, and how much. The council will meet again Monday night and, in this meeting, approve January bills. We will do this each month from now on.

Lane Denton, Wacoan, running for Railroad Commission, came by the office Friday afternoon and I must say that he made a good impression on me. He's been a member of the House of Representatives since 1971 and was a leader in the move to expose corruption in the Sharpstown Bank scandal. There's a bunch running for the post. I asked him if he was honest. "I don't blame you for asking that question," he laughed; then added firmly "Yep, I am!"

A COMMENT on the County Commission's opting for North Georgetown Lake, instead of other suggested names for the forthcoming upriver body of water: The fact that the Commissioners recommended the name is not any more significant, probably less so, in fact, than the City Council's earlier recommendation of Lake Tonkawa. The final judgment is to be made by Cong. J. J. "Jake" Pickle. The buck stops with him and if you want to put in your nickel's worth on that interesting project, drop him a note. It was rather curious to me, in fact, that the County Commissioners would have been asked for an opinion. Wes Johnson and West Foust, yes, but why the other two men? If the Commissioners were asked to help name the lake here, why weren't they included in the decision to name the lake at Laneport? Opposition to the name Tonkawa from members of the Chamber of Commerce was significant, but their choice for a name (Lake Georgetown) was different from that of the Bicentennial Commission (acting on behalf of the city) or the County dads. I wouldn't be surprised now if the Congressman comes up with an entirely different handle. That's consensus for you!

Paul Harvey

This is in rebuttal to those party-poopers who are trying to wet-blanket our Bicentennial wingding.

THESE MEAN-MOUTHERS were around when our nation celebrated its first hundred years, and they were obnoxious then, too.

Part of the problem with having a national birthday party in an election year is that partisan carping and caterwauling by the outs is pertinent to the political process.

In 1876 — when our nation celebrated its hundredth birthday — the second term of Ulysses Grant was ending in a cacophony of unparalleled scandals.

When Grant appeared personally to open the Centennial exposition in Philadelphia, he was booed!

In 1876 our nation was in the depths of the deepest depression in its history and going deeper.

THE CITIES WERE IN TROUBLE. The streets of New York City were less safe than now.

Horse-dung pollution spread epidemic disease.

Mosquito infestation decimated the population.

City government was so corrupt that to this day nobody knows how many tens of millions of dollars Boss Tweed and his political henchmen stole.

In 1876 Henry Adams wrote, "Both parties are impossibly corrupt."

Walt Whitman wrote, "Society in these states is crude, superstitious and rotten. Americans live in an atmosphere of hypocrisy, depravity. . . . Government at all levels is saturated in corruption, bribery, falsehood, maladministration."

Of 1876 William Graham Sumner wrote, "Impending problems might impose an unbearable strain on self-government."

In 1876 our American Indian minority rebelled against atrocities and deprivation by massacring Custer and his men at the Little Big Horn.

AMERICAN WOMEN were protesting through their National Woman's Suffrage Assn. that "the men of this nation are political monarchs. . . . the women of this nation have greater cause for discontent, rebellion and revolution than did our fathers of 1776."

So a hundred years ago there were problems to be solved and wrongs to be righted. Historian Arthur Schlesinger suggests that the critics spawned the reforms.

He believes that we must, as our fathers did, respond constructively by solving problems, righting wrongs.

AND SO WE SHOULD, and so we will.

Since 1876 horse pollution, if not altogether remedied by technology, has been minimized.

Since 1876 the cities did survive — and thrive.

Social inequities have been modified; the dark depression turned out to be lined with gold.

And midst all the mischief, all the malcontent, and against all the ominous odds and despite all the dire predictions, we, the people, prevailed

And ever will.

Crime should not pay

Events such as those that happened in Austin this week proves that we have a sick society and a court system that isn't doing the job.

THE MAN WHO SHOT and killed Steven Lulenski in Brackenridge Hospital had a list of criminal deeds and should not have been at large. He is the type of criminal who should be taken out of circulation. Releasing him from the penitentiary and giving him free rein to roam is like rolling a smoking stick of dynamite down a crowded sidewalk. You know there's going to be an explosion, with innocent bystanders maimed or killed.

This man killed his uncle with a shotgun 15 years ago and was sent to the Rusk hospital as criminally insane. He was released in 1974 after a Travis County Grand Jury found him sane. This week he used a shotgun to kill a fine, young medic for no apparent reason, except that he was crazy.

WE HEAR IT ALL THE TIME — criminals released to commit more crimes against society. They have little fear of the police, knowing they are to be given minimal sentences and released in a short time. In some crimes, crimes without witnesses, they kill their victims on the old theory that "dead people tell no tales." Even if they are apprehended and convicted of murder, they know they will escape the death penalty and be back on the streets before long.

The interminable delays between apprehension and conviction, light sentences, publicity that often flatters the criminal — all these things enter into the picture to give the thug less reason for "going straight" and the public less protection from our law enforcement system.

This is a matter this country needs to meet headlong and win over. Crime should never pay.

French hail 'le bicentenaire'

By Peter C. Stuart

Washington
Two hundred years ago, they sent us a political best seller, Lafayette, and 6,000 soldiers.

One hundred years ago, they sent the Statue of Liberty.

This bicentennial year, the French are sending their President, one-quarter of their naval manpower, gifts for Independence Hall and Mount Vernon, and French-accented commemorations the length and breadth of Main Street America from Yorktown, Virginia, to Honolulu.

It's all to remind us that the French, despite Charles de Gaulle and countless tiffs, remain Americans' oldest allies.

The price of 200 years of friendship, in France's case, is a hefty $4 million — or four times as much as our common foe back in 1776, Britain, is spending on the bicentennial.

For reasons having as much to do with trade and diplomacy as with sentimentality, the French hope their investment will make such names as Lafayette and Rochambeau mean more to Americans than merely the names of county seats in Indiana or Louisiana, or of an undistinguished bridge in Washington, D.C.

One of the first of what promises to become a second expeditionary force from France is, fittingly enough, the descendant of the 18th-century Frenchman who exerted perhaps the earliest influence on the American Revolution.

He is a trim, courtly nobleman with twinkly eyes and a name resurrected from dimly remembered American high-school history textbooks: Montesquieu.

His ancestor, as Baron Henri de Montesquieu patiently reminds his American hosts, predicted 35 years before it happened that "Britain would be the first country to be given up by her colonies." He later wrote a book of political philosophy, widely read in the 13 colonies, which implanted the idea of the United States' three equal branches of government (executive, legislative, and judicial).

The early Montesquieu's grandson, a chum of George Washington, fought with the 6,000 French troops under General de Rochambeau who helped defeat the British in the decisive battle at Yorktown in 1781.

"The first tie [between the Montesquieus and the Americans] was ideas; the second tie was action," the baron says. The present-day tie is more commercial. He is international director-general of Europe's seventh largest conglomerate, one of whose affiliates is the Christian Dior perfume and cosmetics industry.

The centerpiece of French contributions to "Le Bicentenaire de l'Independence des Etats-Unis" will be a sound-and-light show at Mount Vernon, Virginia — patterned after those at French cathedrals and chateaus — on the life of George Washington. Cost: $800,000, or nearly double the price tag of the Statue of Liberty a century ago.

French President Giscard d'Estaing will roar in aboard the Concorde supersonic jetliner in May to dedicate it.

An earlier d'Estaing, an 18th-century French admiral, made a similar foray to aid colonial troops at Boston and Savannah. Now a combined force of 10,000 French sailors will peacefully visit 40 American ports throughout the year.

Americans also will play host to eight times as many French artists as in previous years — from the melancholy voice of folksinger Patrick Kerval to the splendor of the Paris Opera.

The "bicentenaire" spirit is even washing back across the Atlantic to France. American tourists, who sometimes have felt less than entirely welcome there in recent years, will be offered free transportation on July 4 from Paris to Versailles where the Franco-American alliance was first forged.

French television will air a 26-episode series recreating the American Revolution, much of it filmed on location here.

'What do you mean, they look somewhat alike?'

Udall, Bayh fire salvos 'Stop-Carter' move under way

Washington
The beginnings of a "stop-Carter" move now are being seen.

Other Democratic candidates or their staffs are passing along the word: "Carter is ambiguous." "Carter is fuzzy." "Carter is avoiding the issues."

Birch Bayh, while emphasizing his friendship with the former Georgia governor, charges Jimmy Carter with "raising false hopes" among opponents of abortion by suggesting there is a legislative solution to the problem.

Morris Udall says Mr. Carter seems to be on both sides of the issue on right-to-work laws — those state laws which prohibit unions from mandating membership as a job prerequisite.

Thus, a new element is being inserted into the fight for the Democratic nomination — candidate scuffling and bickering is beginning to show its head. Until now the Democrats have mainly been attacking the President and his record. All this reflects Mr. Carter's growing strength and the threat he now poses to the other contenders.

Mr. Carter, himself, got into this intraparty jabbing by indicating Hubert Humphrey's ideas were too antiquated for the Democrats this year. Mr. Humphrey did not like what he thought he heard. And Mr. Carter apologized — but not quite. He seemed to be saying he was sorry while still holding his ground.

Of Mr. Carter and his position on abortion, Senator Bayh, talking to a group of reporters over breakfast, said, "I understand at one time he (Mr. Carter) said he was for a statute to restrict abortion, one like the Georgia statute."

"That was the statute the Supreme Court declared unconstitutional. Who are we kidding? . . . To suggest that we can do by a statute something the Supreme Court has said we can't do is holding out false hopes."

Also, talking to the reporters over breakfast (the next day), Representative Udall said: "Why doesn't someone ask him (Mr. Carter) where he really stands on the right-to-work issue?"

Mr. Udall suggests Mr. Carter is saying things to make the conservatives feel he (Mr. Carter) supports right-to-work while, at the same time, he is saying things to convince liberals and labor he opposes legislative restrictions on the union-shop rule on hiring.

On the Republican side, the battle is heating, too, although President Ford and Ronald Reagan still remain fairly gentlemanly toward each other.

Mr. Reagan's formidable organizational strength in New Hampshire and Florida has caused the President to seek to stimulate his own campaigns in both these primary states.

The President has nearly abandoned his door-to-door campaigning plan for those two states. Instead, he will depend on a massive phone-calling effort.

Mr. Ford did some personal campaigning over the weekend, in both Michigan and Virginia — although his words could be described as "presidential."

Next week the President plunges into the New Hampshire campaign — with his first visit there for months. The following weekend, he will be seeking to further his political interests in Florida.

Scouts sell Scout-O-Rama tickets now

Georgetown Cubs, Scouts and Explorers began selling tickets to the 1976 Bicentennial Scout-O-Rama to be held in Austin at the Municipal Auditorium March 13 from 1 to 9 p.m.

This year a special Bicentennial stage production will be presented in addition to the booth show. Each ticket will entitle the holder to attend the booth show as well as the stage production.

The theme for this year's show will be "Our Past, Present and Future" and more than 6,000 youths from throughout the 15-county Capitol Area Council will participate in this Bicentennial Scout show.

All booth subjects are planned and presented by youth members. This is an action packed show that your family will enjoy. Tickets sell for $1 each and are available from the Cubs, Scouts or Explorers of Georgetown.

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK, State Comptroller

Austin—The greatest boon to city financing in the history of the state came in 1967 when the Texas Legislature gave cities a right to levy a one per cent city sales tax.

We recently pulled figures from our computer showing that the city sales tax revenues have skyrocketed in recent years.

Part of the increase comes from inflation, of course. But mushrooming retail sales indicated by the figures represent a prosperous economic climate also.

For purposes of our study we asked the computer for figures comparing each city's 1975 sales tax revenue with what each of the cities drew during the first full calendar year each city collected the tax.

Only 30 cities of the more than 800 collecting the sales tax in Texas showed decline in revenues. Seven hundred and eighty cities showed increases ranging up to 1,539 per cent.

Rebates to participating cities during the year 1975 totaled $264 million. The figure represents the cities' one per cent city sales tax, less the fees the state charges for handling the distribution.

The state wound up with $1.3 billion from its four per cent sales tax for use in funding various state programs.

Another real benefit to cities is the ease with which the city sales tax is collected. The city's one per cent sales tax is collected at the same time the local merchant collects the four per cent state sales tax.

What it boils down to is a good deal for city government. The merchant acts as tax collector and the state administers the collections and distributes the benefits to the city.

Because of the importance of the sales tax rebates to city budgets we have started a program to send city sales tax dollars back to the cities on a monthly rather than a quarterly basis.

Those sales tax dollars are an important part of city budgeting and the quicker those dollars are made available to the cities the more accurate local officials can be in their budgeting process.

Undoubtedly, without the sales tax, Texas citizens would be paying higher taxes on real estate just to keep the level of city services they desire at a high level.

Stuart Long Austin Notebook

by Patrick Conway

AUSTIN — Just when it looked like the Railroad Commission race would be about as colorful as a parade of albino mice, who do you think jumped in to add pigmentation to the picture?

Why none other than the Honorable Jerry Sadler of Palestine and the Honorable Woodrow Wilson Bean of El Paso, a pair of crusty warriors who go back a long way in the state's political shenanigans.

Sadler wants to return to the job he first won in 1938 when he started all of that pleasant tomfoolery of having a hillbilly band play at his rallies.

It was reported that he had no fewer than 28 fistfights during that campaign, and he never shied away from a fight in later years. Later, while serving in the Legislature he slugged a colleague who had called him a "side kick" of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

A few years later, while serving as land commissioner, he choked Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio during a dispute over sunken treasure off the Gulf Coast.

When a radio reporter asked Sadler, "Are you choking the representative?" he released Johnson and went after the reporter.

The salty, snuff-dipping Sadler (he took a two-year supply to Europe during World War II) was reprimanded by the Legislature for his handling of the sunken treasure case and the Senate the same year issued a publication that said he was ineffective in controlling water pollution by oil and gas companies.

That report was written by a young man named Terance O'Rourke, who just happens to be candidate this year for the Railroad Commission. The report was dismissed by the Land Office as a "political attack" on Sadler who was then en route to defeat by current Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong.

Over the years, Sadler also lost two campaigns for governor, but it wasn't because he didn't know how to be colorful. His prose wasn't purple, it was ultra-violet.

Once he campaigned in Houston wearing a bell hop uniform (a job he once held) and told his crowd, "I am not ashamed of the habitations of labor. Those high political binders, those air-conditioned sit-down candidates will probably turn up their noses when they learn I wore a bell boy's uniform. They turn up their noses at plain people."

Bean likes to turn on the oratory too, and in 1962 was close to being elected congressman-at-large when it was disclosed that he hadn't paid his income tax in 10 years.

Woody allowed that the tax was "immoral," but the federal government went ahead and convicted him on misdemeanor charges and gave him a five year suspended sentence and a $5,000 fine. The State Bar snatched away his law license for two years.

Shortly after he got the license back he was in court defending singer Johnny Cash on narcotics charges, although he has been working for years to dry up the drug traffic across the Mexican border.

Bean's an orphan who was raised at the Fort Worth Masonic Home after his parents died when he was five, and he was first elected to the legislature while still a student at SMU. In 1950, he became the first lawmaker to be called to active duty in the Korean War as a first lieutenant in the Marines.

His most turbulent years were spent as El Paso County Judge, and the Henry Kissinger of West Texas he wasn't. Once he stirred his commissioners court into getting into a fistfight while dining at a posh private club in Austin.

His political machinations have also extended to the State Democratic Executive Committee, the State Board of Education and most recently to an unsuccessful race for mayor of El Paso.

One of my fondest memories of Woody stems from the income tax charges. I was in Mexico when I ran into Bean, Archer Parr and a number of other South Texas politicians in a bar.

"Pat," Woody said, "you're not going back and write that I am hiding out in Mexico, are you?"

I asked just what he was doing.

"Hiding out in Mexico," he replied.

Florence school trustees to meet Monday

Florence School Board will hold its regular monthly meeting 7 p.m. Monday night at the superintendent's office.

Scheduled on the agenda is an order for the School Trustee election this spring.

Superintendent Lee Roy Knauth will report on the vocational building, the Green Thumb project, information for a tax study, and the scheduled open house at the March PTA meeting.

Air zoning hearing set

A proposed ordinance restricting the height of construction projects within the city limits of Georgetown will be the subject of a public hearing at the next meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission on March 2.

Commission members A. P. Prude, Fred Hilgeman, Lee Fikes, and G. E. Almquist, who also compose the Georgetown Airport Zoning Board, set the public hearing at their meeting Tuesday night.

THEY WILL EXPLAIN the ordinance at the hearing and will consider comments on it. Also attending will be Jay Lyons, a technician with the Texas Aeronautical Commission, and members of the Williamson County Air Zoning Board. The two boards together comprise the Georgetown-Williamson County Air Zoning Board, which has authority to adopt such ordinances.

The ordinance sets limits on the height to which structures may be built within a circle centered around the Georgetown Municipal Airport. Intent of the ordinance is to keep approaches to airport runways clear of obstructions. The ordinance would also help the city meet requirements for federal grants.

Asst. City Manager W. L. Walden said landowners affected by the ordinance will be notified by mail of the hearing.

The Planning and Zoning Commission, acting as the Georgetown Air Zoning Board, will make a recommendation to the county half of the joint board after the hearing.

Members of that board include president Tom Sams, Jim Boutwell, airport manager, James H. Rehler, W. G. Walker, and Ned Snead. No other action was taken by the Commission Tuesday.

Housed in the Gallery of the Alma Thomas Fine Arts Center at Southwestern University during February is an exhibit of 50 paintings, drawings, and illustrations by artist Bob Grigsby of Austin, including pen and ink, watercolor, graphite, acrylic and pastel.

He is an alumnus of Southwest Texas State University and the University of Texas at Austin. He is an instructor of private art lessons and costume and scene designer for Zachary Scott Theater and Austin Parks and Recreation Department.

Published works for Grigsby include "Old People Look Like Landscapes" in SOUTHWESTERN ART (June 1971). Memberships for Grigsby include Kappa Pi (art fraternity), Texas Fine Arts Association, Artist Equity Association, and Artist Rights Today, Inc. His other interests include music, theatre, poetry and wildlife management.

A native of Bartlett and a graduate of Bartlett High School, Grigsby is the son of Mrs. Effie Lou Grigsby of Bartlett.

A gallery talk by the artist is scheduled for 4 p. m. Wednesday, February 11 in the Alma Thomas Fine Arts Center.

LEO BOMPART (30) and Mike Edwards (42) both became eligible to play for the Southwestern University Pirates this semester, and both have been seeing plenty of action. Bompert, a native of Venezuela, played for that country's basketball team in the recent Pan American games where he was the leading scorer on the team. Edwards has already become one of the top rebounders and a steady scorer for the Bucs.

Bucs play LaTourneau; East Texas Baptist

Southwestern University's Pirates must be doing something right.

Not only are they in the Big State Conference lead (pending the outcome of games Friday and Saturday night), but they also find themselves among the leaders in national statistics compiled by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

This has proven quite a turnaround for the Bucs, losers of their first seven games and facing a super-tough schedule.

Yet going into the LeTourneau game Friday evening, the Pirates were two games ahead in the Big State Conference with just four games to play. Two of those games are with Texas Lutheran (February 14 in Seguin) and St. Mary's (February 16 in San Antonio) which were tied with 5-2 records earlier in the week.

The Pirates will be looking for large contingents of supporters to accompany them to both of those games.

Chartered buses are planned for the St. Mary's game. Cost of the round-trip will be $3.25 with game ticket costing $1 for students and $1.50 for non-students. Reservations can be made by calling Jaime Gray at the Southwestern Student Union, 863-6511, extension 302. But the Bucs could not afford to be looking ahead to those last games, said Coach John Edwards, as he prepared his charges for action in Georgetown Friday and Saturday nights. (The paper went to press before results were available).

Friday the Bucs played LeTourneau, a team they defeated 81-59 two weeks ago in Longview. Then Saturday at 7:30 p. m. they played East Texas Baptist, a team the Bucs barely beat 65-63 in Marshall and the same team that defeated St. Mary's to give Southwestern the two-game cushion.

Sandwiched between all those conference contests will be Sam Houston State Thursday night in Huntsville. The Bearcats will be seeking revenge after Southwestern upset them in Georgetown on December 4 for the Pirates first win of the season. Since then the Bucs have won 13 of their last 16 games for a 13-10 record.

The Pirates continue to be ranked nationally in field goal percentages. This week they are in 12th place among NAIA teams with a .525 mark — which is not all that far behind the third ranked team which has a .547 mark.

Balance has been a key to Coach Edwards' team with scoring averages looking like these — Joe Buchanan 16.2, Mike Edwards, 12.2, Kenny Dennis 11.2, Michael Minks 10.7, Jimmy Duffield 7, Tommy Johnson 6.3, Dick Pool 5, Steve Doering 4.3, and Leo Bompert 4.

In field goal accuracy Dennis leads with a 60.12 average while Pool leads in free throw accuracy with 78.6 per cent. Edwards and Buchanan have each averaged more than seven rebounds a game while Dennis has grabbed more than five per contest. Even though Southwestern has been shorter than virtually every team they have played, they have out-rebounded their opponents in almost every game.

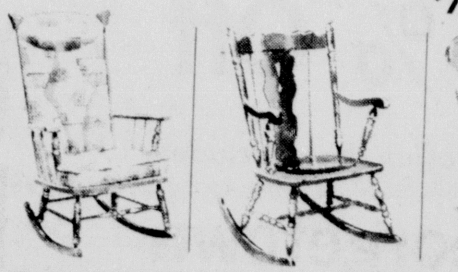

NOT ONLY CAN DICK POOL shoot free throws (he's Southwestern statistical leader in that department) but the husky junior can also grab rebounds as demonstrated here against St. Edward's. Pool has shown what the bench strength for the hustling Pirates means through the season as the Bucs seek the Big State Conference crown.

Liberty Hill NEWS

BY HOWARD N. WILSON

Market Day, the biggest event of the weekend in our town, and one of the biggest do-ers in Central Texas, was the center of attention for many people from miles around.

Another major activity that is just getting underway is the VFW, and we are expecting to hear more from this group very soon. Anyone who wants detailed information about the VFW can contact Joe Taylor Sr., Johnny Lane or James Cluck, all of Liberty Hill.

We must not fail, of course, to urge everyone to attend the next meeting of The Liberty Hill Community Association which will be held at 7:30 in the evening on Thursday February 12, in Liberty Hill High School. We like their Motto — "Dedicated to making Liberty Hill an even better place to live!" Be sure to attend this and all future meetings of The Liberty Hill Community Association; you, too, can be part of the great things that the future holds for us here in our already great community.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Liberty Hill Volunteer Fire Department is in the midst of a very worthy project, that of raising money to go toward the Georgetown Area Hospital Development Fund. Those of you who get the Sunday SUN in the mail on Saturday morning are gently reminded of this event and urged to go for a good meal of pancakes, with butter and syrup, sausage, and milk or coffee, which will be held at the Liberty Hill Elementary School Cafeteria this evening from 5:30 until 7:30. Don't forget that the ladies have a booth at Market Day to take donations and pledges. Everyone will have ample opportunity to help in the realization of the goal of The Georgetown Area Hospital Development Fund.

The Liberty Hill Band Parents are now taking donations in the amount of twenty-five dollars for which you and your business will receive a full month of advertising in the form of large placards being made and placed on the cars of the Band Parents — your name will be on exhibit all of the time for this month. You will get much good publicity, and you will be helping to make our Band a much prouder group with new uniforms. Anyone who wants to help by taking advantage of this great advertising, whether you are in Liberty Hill or elsewhere, should contact Joy Gilmore at 778-5265, Rhane Hoppe at 778-5491, or any other of the band parents.

The placards will be enlargements of business cards, and for the twenty-five dollars one will be placed on each side, as well as on the back and the front, of the exhibiting car. Be a BAND BOOSTER, and take advantage of this unique advertising!

The Liberty Hill High School Girls' Varsity Basketball Team hosted the Salado Team in Liberty Hill on February 3, and the home team was subdued by the visitors by 78 to 22. Diane Williams was the leading scorer for our team with 11 points; Debby Bohanan and Shirli Holder were the other two point-makers for our team with 7 points and 4 points respectively. McGregor from Salado was the high-pointner for her team, as well as for the game, with 26 points.

Baseball will be the next athletic program, and the practice for this activity will begin shortly after the last basketball game, which will be played next Tuesday. The first scheduled game will be on Monday, March 8, with St. Stephens on their diamond in Austin, with the game starting at four o'clock in the afternoon. As always, we strongly urge you to attend the game and support the home team.

Grady Rollins, our Fire Chief, has issued a SPECIAL PLEA for everyone to PLEASE WAIT UNTIL THE WEEKEND TO BURN YOUR BRUSH, so that the members of the fire department will be at home and will be available if they are needed. Nearly all of the active members of our fire department are out of town on their jobs during the week. The weather conditions are such that fire is a particular hazard now, so for your safety do this little thing and we will all be better off. We have a very fine group of fire men who are all ready at a moment's notice, but we must help them for the safety of all of us — THANK YOU!

Jack and Helen Corbitt, and their son, Dean, were up from Austin last Tuesday visiting friends and relatives here, including their sister, and brother-in-law Dorothy and Jewell Wilson. Dean Corbitt, the Wilson's nephew, is a member of The United States Marine Corps, and he was home on leave before going to Japan after a tour-of-duty in Cuba.

We apologize for being late in telling you about one of our newer citizens, Tonya Sue Rampey. The little lady was nineteen inches tall and weighed in at eight pounds and five and half ounces when she arrived in the home of Gene and Debbie Rampey on December 29, 1975. Tonya Sue was greeted by her parents and her older sister, Terri Lynn, three, when she arrived. Tonya Sue was also welcomed by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Rampey and Mrs. and Mrs. Huldy Mather; she is the great granddaughter of Mrs. Addie Simpkins.

WELCOME, little lady — we are glad to have you with us! Those of us who are privileged to have the satisfaction of having a purpose in life can be very thankful that The Heavens Have Smiled on us. We truly have a reason to look forward to tomorrow!

The menu for the Liberty Hill School Cafeteria for February 9 through 13 reads as follows: MONDAY — Corn Dogs, congealed salad, English Peas, cookies, and milk; TUESDAY — Fish Cakes, slaw, French Fries, cake and milk; WEDNESDAY — Lasagna, salad, green beans, ice cream, and milk; THURSDAY — Tacos, salad, green beans, ice cream and milk; FRIDAY — Pizza, corn, salad, fruit and milk. KEEP SMILING!

LH trustees discuss reports

Liberty Hill school trustees will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday to consider the school trustee election April 3.

Along with the regular order of business board members will review the revised chapter of school policies concerning pupil personnel.

Administrative and instructional personnel, the auditor's report, and a real estate transaction will also be considered by the trustees.

Paving the high school parking area will be discussed.

The board will review the Texas Education Agency transportation report regarding school bus routes and bus operation.

The Textbook Committee will report on their findings, so that books can be ordered for the fall.

The City of Florence postponed a decision this week on whether to add to its fire station and agreed to begin reimbursing volunteer firemen.

Meeting Tuesday night, the city council also accepted the resignation of public librarian Dorothy Wales and voted to purchase three bottles of compressed oxygen.

CHAMBERS ASKED the council to consider annexing areas around Florence and purchasing water from Northfork Lake when it is completed.

He said residents within about a half-mile of the city desire to live within it to receive city services and explained that the water would supplement Florence's two wells, which supply residential and firefighting demands.

Southwestern hosts Multi-media show

The Main Lounge of the Bishops Union Building at Southwestern University will be the setting at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, February 11 for the multi-media and dance presentation of Leonard Bernstein's MASS.

The public is invited to attend this presentation by the Howard Hanger Trio, a nationally-known musical ensemble, widely recognized for their work in innovative liturgy and experimental communication.

UNLIKE MANY MULTI-MEDIA shows, the intent with this production is never to inundate the audience with visual stimuli but rather to elucidate Bernstein's score.

Leonard Bernstein composed MASS for presentation at the opening of the Kennedy Arts Center in Washington, D.C. It is Bernstein's translation of a participatory event into a stage event. The music slips from rock to blues to neo-classical with tremendous ease and agility. His statement in MASS is a culmination of his belief that the crisis of faith is the dominant crisis in the 20th century.

RATHER THAN PRESENTING the music live, tapes from the original performances are utilized in full quadrophonic sound, computer-synchronized with 12 projectors and augmented with two (live) dancers who act as a double celebrant. The visuals are projected on a giant 30-foot screen and serve as a visual backdrop for the dancers. An additional screen serves to illuminate the libretto so that the audience can follow the MASS word by word.

County chiefs eye pay appeals board

County commissioners will consider appointment of three members to the Salary Grievance Committee Monday at the regular court meeting.

The committee, established by state law, may override decisions of the county commissioners concerning compensation, office expense, and all other allowances for county and precinct officials and employees who are paid wholly from county funds.

The three members of the committee, who were drawn by state law from lists of people who served on the 1975 Grand Jury, include Ray Henderson of Georgetown, Dale Hester of Round Rock, and Agnes H. Sides of Granger. The names were drawn from a hat by the committee chairman, County Judge C. L. Chance.

Other members of the committee include the sheriff, the county tax assessor-collector, the county treasurer, the county clerk, the district

Eagles falter, other important area games Tuesday

"We finally played a poor game," said varsity basketball coach Doug Parker about the Belton game.

The Tigers downed the Eagles 67-53 Tuesday night in Belton in a Zone game.

According to Parker, there are several reasons for the wide margin in scoring. First, Georgetown made only 42% of their fieldgoals, a figure down from the 50-60% shooting the Eagles have enjoyed in recent games. Second, the varsity only pulled down 19 rebounds. "We have been getting 30 to 40 rebounds a game and it was not a very good game," said Parker.

The only bright spots in the match came from Alfred Girard, with 25 points to lead all scoring, and David Giasse who had 16 points.

Georgetown fell behind in the first quarter scoring and did not lead the rest of the game. Scores at the end of the quarter left Georgetown trailing 9-4.

In the third quarter Belton pulled away by a score of 45-33 and put it away in the fourth, outscoring the Eagles 22-20 for a final score of 67-53.

The varsity meets Copperas Cove Tuesday for the final district game, and have a chance to knock Cove out of the finals if Gatesville beats them.

★ Council

KINSLOW, Customer Services Manager for General Telephone, said from his La Grange office on Friday that he was unaware he was on the Council's Monday agenda and understood he was to appear January 26.

He said that if the telephone company does send a representative, it will be to make the same request and to see if the Council is ready to accept it.

"We expect a counterproposal," said Kinslow. Asst. City Manager W. L. Walden said Hopper is not expected to attend the Council meeting and no action on the request is expected.

The city has also drawn up its plans to construct a fire station at 212 Williams Drive to supplement the main station at 802½ Main St. Monday night the Council will consider advertising for bids to build the station.

Also Monday, ordinances dealing with brush removal and a speed limit near Georgetown High School will come up for first reading.

THE FIRST ORDINANCE would require city residents to bundle brush into four-foot lengths, with packages weighing no more than 100 pounds, for free removal by the city. Also, leaves to be removed would have to be placed in bags or containers.

The city presently charges $10 to haul away a truckload of unbound, uncut brush, and $5 for a half-load.

The speed zone ordinance would restrict speed along a 1200-foot section of U. S. 81 in front of the high school to 35 miles per hour when signal lights are flashing.

Ernest Lincoln, Executive Director of the Georgetown Housing Authority, will present a payment from the Authority to the city.

Lincoln said the Authority submits PILOT (Payment in Lieu of Taxes) checks to taxing authorities including the city, the school district, the county, and the state.

He explained that payment is drawn from 10 percent of the Housing Authority's rental income, minus utility payments. The payment is distributed among the various taxing bodies in proportion to their tax rates.

THE COUNCIL WILL ALSO consider appointment of a new member for the Georgetown Urban Renewal Agency's Board of Directors. William Luedecke resigned his seat on the board last month when he was appointed to serve temporarily on the Council. Charles Saterfield of 904 W. Fifteenth St. has been nominated to replace Luedecke.

The Urban Renewal Agency will also present for Council approval a list of bids for approximately 15 lots in the Renewal project area.

Finally, councilmen are scheduled to consider changing the name of Dawn Drive to Golden Oaks along a section of Dawn between its intersections with Golden Oaks and Williams Drive.
